MEETING IN VALLEY

LA CANADA ASSOCIATION TRANSACTS ROUTINE BUSINESS—HAS SOCIAL TIME

That the social meetings of La Canada association, which are held every two weeks, are gaining in popularity, was seen last Saturday when the hall was filled with a genial and friendly assemblage of the inhabitants of the valley. Mr. Cooper presided and discharged the functions of the chair with great efficiency. Mr. Granger, the secretary, read the minutes, which were approved.

A communication from the church committee was read inviting all residents in the valley to a social to be held at the church Thursday, September 2. An excellent program was promised and it was announced that the charge for admission would be fifteen cents. Another communication was also read reminding the members of the association that the adjourned district school meeting would be held in La Canada hall on September 4.

Another communication was read from Miss Godfrey calling attention to distress, want and misery in Belgium caused by the invasion of that country by hostile troops. The communication went on to say that La Canada might easily relieve some of that want by giving the Belgians some of the superfluity of nuts and fruits which is to be found in the valley. The letter stated that at least a ton of such fruit could be sent. Good fruit, said the writer, should not be allowed to go to waste when the people of Belgium, hard-working, self-denying, honest men and women, are suffering for lack of the commonest necessities. The writer advised the appointment of a central committee and sub-committees to handle this matter, collect fruit and prepare it for exportation and, finally, to dispatch it to Queen Elizabeth of Belgium.

After some discussion it was agreed that it was rather late in the season to begin the work of attempting to get fruit for such a purpose. The letter was therefore laid on the table to be discussed at a future meeting.

Bills for the installation of mirrors in the dressing-rooms of the hall were ordered paid.

The committee appointed to watch over the matter of the construction of bridges, through its chairman, Mr. Williams, stated that the grading had been carried up to the water and that everything was ready for building the bridges.

It was suggested that the supervisors might be urged to get some action on this matter, but after discussion it was agreed to allow the matter to proceed on its present lines.

On the recommendation of Mr. Brigham the recommendations made by the executive committee at a recent meeting were allowed to stand over until the next meeting.

Mrs. Green, having been called upon by the chair, gave an interesting description of a recent trip to San Francisco by automobile. She said that their party had made an eleven days' trip. The journey by road had afforded them an excellent opportunity to see the country, although the weather was very warm until they reached Modesto. The roads were excellent on the journey north, but very bad on the return home. In San Francisco they had visited the exposition and had viewed with much interest the various exhibits, noting the complete and exhaustive exhibits of state products.

The chairman stated that it was time that the association should begin thinking about what should be done to prepare a float representative of the valley for the New Year's day parade at Pasadena. He put the matter before the association that they might begin to take it into consideration and make arrangements for having a float that would do the valley credit.

There being no further business, the speaker of the evening, Mr. St. Clair of the Glendale Evening News, was called on to give an address. He spoke on "The Press and the Nations," giving a graphic account of the part played by the representatives of the great American newspapers in gathering foreign news and war news.

The speaker stated that for a period of years he had had charge of the Chicago Daily News foreign news service, which was a bureau of service organized by Mr. Victor F. Lawson, proprietor of the Chicago Daily News, for supplementing the news given out by the Associated Press. To gather and disseminate foreign news from every country on the face of the globe was the work of that bureau. To that end the service had 470 correspondents. Those were usually newspaper men of high stand-

BROADWAY DEPARTMENT STORE DRIVER HAS ENCOUNTER WITH HOLD-UP MEN

Special Service to Glendale Evening News

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30.—Two bandits held up H. H. Buchanan, a driver for the Broadway department store, at 1 o'clock this afternoon in Gardena. The robbers took $70, the driver's collections. They escaped in an auto. The description given by the driver of the bandits makes it appear that they were the same men who held up the Boyle Heights branch of the Home Savings bank and got away with money to the amount of $2500.

Thursday, September 2, the Rev. Dr. Mundy of Hollywood.

It is expected that considerable stimulus will be given to the spiritual life of the parish by these meetings. Glendale Presbyterians are invited to participate in communion with the brethren of Tropic Sunday.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 30.—The Woodmen of the World from Florida, Alabama and Georgia, including over ten thousand of the Uniform Rank, are in annual encampment here.

ing in their own cities or districts.

News collected by these correspondents was assembled in the offices which the Chicago Daily News maintained in London, England; Paris, France; Berlin, Germany; Vienna, Austria, and St. Petersburg, Russia; then sent in cipher to the central office in Chicago, expanded there and wired to newspapers in every part of the United States. The service had able correspondents in places as remote as Nome at the Arctic circle; across the Bering Straits in Northeastern Siberia; down the Siberian coast to Petropavlovsk and Vladivostok; in Manchuria at Harbin; in all the principal cities of Japan and China; in the capitals of the Straits Settlements; in Indo-China; throughout the East Indies; in Burma and India proper; in Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania; in the West Indies, South America and all the cities of Europe, besides in the countries already named there.

The speaker told of how those correspondents were equipped and provided with every means for collecting news. How even the Vatican furnished the service with reliable information regarding its policies and proceedings. He narrated many striking incidents of the adventures of correspondents during war time and how the Chicago Daily News beat the world in publishing the first news of the outbreak of war between Japan and Russia, when Japanese war vessels sunk the Koriets and the Variag in Chemulpo harbor.

After further interesting details the speaker went on to show how the American newspapers with their excellent daily resume of news of all nations were aiding humanity to understand itself and the different nations to understand each other, which was a step toward bringing about that universal peace for which the world had sighed so long.

At the close of the address a pleasant social time was enjoyed and ice cream and cake were served.

As the launch was making its way across the estuary of the Thames in the vicinity of Purfleet, a terrible squall struck the boat. FORESEES THE ADVENT

EVANGELIST WARREN SAYS THIS GENERATION WILL SEE CHRIST'S COMING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 30.—

"Men and women now are living on this earth who are in middle life, yes, who are bowed with age, who will see Jesus Christ coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory," according to the startling statement made by Evangelist Luther Warren at the Seventh-day Adventist camp-meeting here at the opening session in the auditorium last Thursday night. The gathering is the first held by the Southeastern California conference, which was newly organized last spring. The Adventists will remain in camp for ten days.

Not less than from 1300 to 1500 persons will be encamped on the grounds. Already practically all of the 280 tents that have been pitched have been engaged, and it probably will be necessary to pitch fifty more. A choir of fifty voices has been organized by Prof. I. C. Colcord of Los Angeles and this is being supported at the meetings by an orchestra of fifteen pieces under the efficient leadership of Ray D. Arnold of Loma Linda. The music will be made a special feature of all the services. All the facilities of a genuine tent-city have been provided for the accommodation of the campers. Seven meetings daily will be held.

"Overwhelming Bible evidence can be given and will be given later in these meetings," said Pastor Warren, "to show that the people now living upon the earth will see the glorious appearing of the son of God to take his followers with him to heaven, to bring to an end all sin, sorrow, pain and death, to wipe away all tears, to banish war from the earth, and to bring joy and gladness to those who are ready to meet him. 'The scripture declares 'Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many, and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time, without sin, unto salvation.' Seventh-day Adventists are looking for him. That is why we are called Adventists."

"Some may ask, 'Isn't there danger that after you have looked for the coming of Christ so long, that after all you may be mistaken about this matter?' No, friends, there is not the slightest chance for a mistake upon this important point. Christ is coming and he is coming soon. Seventh-day Adventists never have pretended to know just when, for the exact time is not revealed in the Bible. But the Bible tells us the generation in which he will come. We don't have to guess at it."

"In the twenty-fourth chapter of Matthew we find the record of the savior's promise that he would return. Let me read with you the fourteenth verse: 'This gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world, for a witness unto all nations, and then shall the end come.' When do Seventh-day Adventists expect the end of the world? When the gospel of the kingdom is preached in all the world. How soon will that be? Well, it might have been done years ago—it might have been finished now. The only reason it has not been finished is because there were not enough of those who loved their Lord sufficiently to finish it. But we have come to the time when that message is going swiftly from nation to nation, and yet it can go more swiftly. It is time we, as Christian men and women, read that scripture with the emphasis on the 'shall.' It is time we did the work with all the love for perishing humanity, and power to reach the hearts of men, that God gave us."

"We stand facing the great event of the ages, when the king of glory shall again come to earth, not a helpless babe this time, but as king of kings and lord of lords. What preparations are being made by professed Christians for this great event? How are they preparing to greet him in a proper way? What about your conference, your church, your home, you? May God help us that these things may not seem like twice-told tales."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTICE

Registration will not be open in the forenoons. The forenoons, all day Saturday and Monday are reserved for other work. There will be no school Monday. School will begin Tuesday, September 7.

THE LAST WEEK'S WORK

CONTESTANTS NOW ON LAST LAP OF THEIR LONG RACE FOR PRIZES

To those of the Evening News subscription getting contestants who have been working diligently since the opening of the contest, the thought of the end being so near at hand must indeed be refreshing.

The last week of a contest is always the time for real active work. It is the time that promises are made good. The last week permits of no excuses for delay. The contestant who has worked hard for ten weeks does not consider it good business to lose out the last week.

There are always candidates in a contest who remain inactive until the last few days of the battle and then these slow ones wake up and imagine how nice it will be to win one of the best prizes, and proceed to get busy.

The steady worker can overcome this last week's big business of a fellow contestant only by calling to his assistance his friends and his friends' friends.

The last week of a contest brings about many changes and the result of these changes will not be known until the standing of the contestants is announced by the judges next Saturday evening.

Many new names have been added to the Evening News subscription list and yet the fact remains that should any candidate get one year subscriptions from one-fourth of the residents of this community not now receiving the paper, he would become an easy winner of the best prize offered. New business is what counts in this contest as the following schedule clearly shows:

MARIAN LOUISE BUTTERFIELD

Little Marian Louise, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Butterfield, passed away August 26 at the home of Mrs. Butterfield's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Kimball at Chino, Cal., after a short illness of pneumonia at the age of three months.

Funeral services were held at the Jewel City undertaking parlors Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Bede A. Johnson of the First Methodist church officiating. Four school girl friends of Mrs. Butterfield acted as pallbearers and carried the tiny white casket on their laps to the grave in Forest Lawn cemetery. Mrs. Cammack sang sweetly bringing comfort to the stricken hearts of the parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Butterfield have the sympathy of many friends in their hour of deep sorrow.

CITY LOT GARDENS

To teach wage earners the possibilities of city lot farming the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles has inaugurated a series of daily illustrated lectures by George H. Maxwell, executive director of the National Reclamation association.

The plan advocated is to plant just enough for the family consumption. Charts are being prepared showing what to plant each month and the number of seeds for each person. Two hours each day is given as the time required to keep the average family supplied with fresh garden products throughout the year.

Maxwell claims that establishing a garden in every city home will do away with hospitals for tubercular children, reducing sickness among adults to a minimum, keep the boys from being forced into armies of the unemployed, and raise the average standard of living while reducing the cost.

SIGNS OF PEACE IN EUROPE

It may not be thought that Sir Edward Grey's reply to tentative peace suggestions on the part of Germany savors much of peace, but the very fact that Germany should have suggested terms on which peace could be discussed and that Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, should have thought fit to reply to the suggestions is an indication that if it is possible to find a common basis on which such a discussion can be begun, peace might be assured.

It is certain that Germany, as well as all the other nations, must have arrived by this time at the conclusion that this war is going to be non-productive of any of the ideas with which it was started. Germany has lost, it is stated, 3,000,000 men—the very flower of her land—fine men physically and mentally. In the recent fighting in Russia it is true the Germans have driven back the Russians, but that is all they have done. They have taken a few strong fortresses, but they have made no impression on the nation itself and even now a new Russian army of 2,000,000 men is forming up behind the most recent line of defense. The losses of German life in the recent "drive" across Poland have been enormous and must give even the most sanguine Teuton pause.

Meanwhile there has been no break in the French lines, nor in the 100 miles of front held by the British, nor even in the valiant ranks of the Belgians. Something has happened at sea which discounts to a certain extent the success of the German submarines. The British admiralty professes to have the submarine menace in hand and it is stated that large numbers of those vessels have been captured or sunk recently.

Whatever the reason, Germany is now more amenable to the American protests against the inhuman warfare against unarmed vessels and women and children. The Germans have been induced by the foregoing considerations and by other arguments to make certain demands regarding the freedom of the seas and Sir Edward Grey replies that such a question may easily be made a subject for diplomatic negotiations. This is one of the most important steps toward securing peace that has appeared as yet on the part of Britain.

It is becoming manifest through the mists of blood and smoke of the battlefields and devastated lands of Europe that there is a possibility of peace being discussed. Sir Edward Grey says that there must be a limitation of armament; that Germany cannot collect indemnity from any of the allies, and generally hints that when peace comes to be discussed that the terms cannot be imposed by Germany, but must be made in a general agreement.

Naturally the evacuation of Belgium will be demanded by the British and French as part of the price of peace, and France will have a word to say about Alsace-Lorraine. All this is, of course, merely tentative. There are other vast questions for settlement and when negotiations begin it will be noted that Germany's foreign colonies are all in the hands of the allies, and one success will counterbalance another.

What is of the utmost importance to the world is the fact that the nations are now beginning to see the necessity for calling a halt to the awful destruction of human life and property on the continent of Europe. Up till now there has been nothing heard on any side but "Fight to a finish." If the fight should go on to a finish the continent of Europe would take several decades to recover from the effects of the horrible conflict.

TRAINING FOR CIVIL SERVICE

Every day the idea is growing throughout the country that the civic servant must be a specialist. It will not be very long before the custom of intrusting the work of civic government to inexperienced hands will be a thing of the past. The universities and colleges of the land are beginning to offer training for national, state and city servants of the highest type.

At present the supply of promising appointees is not large, but from this time on the supply will increase. The universities and colleges realize that it will henceforth be necessary to give young men who are anxious to take up this work a combined graduate-school training and a practical apprenticeship.

In 1914 a society was formed to help to train university men for civic service. That society is working hard to furnish administrators of the best type to cities in need of such service. Wisconsin university with its democratized form of university education, has done a great deal to incite other universities to similar action, and everywhere communities are trying to learn how they enlist in their service men trained for the work and furnished with a knowledge of the problems of civic life just as specialists in other branches of public service are equipped.

This task of training competent administrators of government is not so difficult as the placing of them when they have been trained. Personal and other influences are always at work to perpetuate the old system, and even the universities are not all anxious to take up this work. There is also a prejudice on the part of the non-progressive official against the candidates from the university or college who seeks to get a foothold in a civic administration.

In most cities students anxious to master this subject cannot get a chance to study government at close range. The new society is therefore largely devoting itself to educational work. It advocates strongly university extension. In this way it every now and then enlists another institution on the side of the civic service ideal. At present the prospect is that there will soon be a number of important institutions engaged in the work of training individuals for civic service all over the land.

Presidential candidates don't last long in Mexico, whether they are on the one side or the other. Villa achieved much popularity in the beginning, but latterly his followers appear to have become dissatisfied with him. He may plead that "tis not in mortals to command success," but the average fighting peon has little favor for the general who only "deserves it." Carranza, too, who started out with a flourish of patriotic trumpets, does not seem to have stood the test of office. His hand has not been strong enough over his men and his voice has been too often heard in ill-considered and hasty statements. It is now reported that many of the governors of Mexican states are antagonistic to Carranza. Meanwhile independently of both Carranza and Villa, the American state department is steadily working on its plans for a peace conference of united Mexico.

SCHOOL CREDITS FOR MUSIC

Editor News: Through some misapprehension in a recent report given over the telephone of some question discussed at the congress of music in connection with the N. E. A. at Oakland and published in last Saturday's News, gave as my opinion the public schools should not give school credits for work done under private instruction. I wish to correct that.

I rejoice at the widespread interest in the making of the study of music an integral part of every child's life, and in the opportunities being given children to have instrumental instruction if they want it, yet I feel these innovations must be introduced into the already crowded school curriculum with a degree of caution.

The well rounded musician must have a solid foundation upon which to build his superstructure and a mind trained and broadened by a course including mathematics, literature, history, language and some science. These subjects should be developed side by side with his specialty and the neglect of either phase of his education works against the highest development.

This becomes a serious problem during a student's high school experience for advance in musical proficiency requires more time for practice and high school subjects demand more hours for their mastery, while the student at this stage of physical development needs to be gaining a reserve of strength and nervous energy necessary for future happiness and usefulness.

I favor giving school credits for work done under private instruction outside of school. How can we best serve and help our pupils to greater achievement if we do not all work together to that end?

OLD SUIT RENEWED

In looking over some old papers in his office today, Attorney Edwin C. Robinson of Oakland found an application for divorce made out 30 years ago in the name of Mrs. Clara Jacobs against Joseph Jacobs. Communicating with Mrs. Jacobs, Robinson learned that she was still in the same frame of mind. So he filed the suit in the superior court. The Jacobs have been living apart all these years.

If the oleomargarine makers have cheated the government out of $27,000,000, as affirmed, some of it ought to be coming back in the form of income tax.

FOREST FIRE REPORTS

Reports of forest fires in all the national forests in the country are now received at the U. S. forest service exhibit of the Panama-Pacific international exposition, San Francisco. Mr. Don Carlos Ellis, in charge of the exhibit, has just announced that arrangements have been completed whereby the district foresters throughout the United States will report to him promptly all forest fires occurring in their districts and the amount of damage they cause. As the reports are received they will be immediately posted on a map by means of different colored pins, white pins indicating fires below one-fourth of an acre in extent, black for fires less than ten acres, and red for fires over ten acres. This arrangement means an extension of a similar exhibit confined to the national forests of California, which was installed at the beginning of the fire season. This proved so popular that the larger plan to include the entire country was adopted, with the special purpose of interesting visitors from other states.

The new map has already been installed. The reports which it gives are cumulative. They show that up to August 1, 1212 fires had been reported from the national forests in the six western districts, of which 716 were caught and extinguished before they had burned one-fourth acre, 316 before ten acres had burned and only 180 which burned more than that acreage.

GOOD ROADS CONGRESS

With the rising importance of the question of good roads throughout the country comes the need for consultation on the part of the various associations that occupy themselves with this matter. To this end the Pacific coast good roads congress will be held September 13 in San Francisco. This congress has been organized by the Tri-State Good Roads association, co-operating with the Pan-American roads congress.

The Tri-State Good Roads association, which is represented in every city in the states of Washington, Oregon and California, will act along with the various societies constituting the Pan-American road congress. Those societies are the American Road Builders' association, the American Highway association and the Pacific Highway association. The office of the convention will be in the municipal auditorium building. Pan-American road congress day will be held September 15 in Festival hall, within the exposition grounds.

To encourage, promote and devise plans and methods for the construction of permanent main state highways through the states of California, Oregon and Washington, and also to promote the construction of lateral highways for public locomotion and travel is one of the objects of this association. Capt. Walter Coggeshall of Eureka is president of the Pacific coast congress.

STATE LICENSES TO FISH

Sportsmen leaving here to fish in the Sequoia, Yosemite and General Grant national parks were informed today that they must obtain state fishing licenses first. The secretary of the interior had ordered that the state game and fish laws be enforced in these parks.

A DIFFERENCE

A recently returned American tourist tells of entering a hotel in a French town not far from Paris. He asked for a room and the hotel keeper took him to the top floor, where he showed very comfortable apartments at the surprisingly low figure of five francs a day. Marveling, but well satisfied, the American took a room.

Later in the day, while walking about the town, he met an acquaintance, who inquired where he was living, whereupon the fortunate tourist told of his excellent accommodations.

"Ah," said the friend, "what floor are you on?"

"The top floor."

"Yes; you have one of the Zepelin parlors. Try to get a room in the basement and see what they will

Y. P. B. CONVENTION

The Young People's Branch (Y. P. B.) of the W. C. T. U. held its third annual convention at Santa Ana on August 26 and 27. About fifty-five delegates from the various societies (nineteen in number) were present at the six meetings held. Mrs. Stella B. Irvine, state president of the W. C. T. U.; Mrs. Hattie M. Doughty, state secretary, and other workers of the W. C. T. U. and also of the Young People's Branches, were present and gave very interesting talks to the young people. Mr. Cecil Noll, the state president, presided at the convention and all the state officials of the Y. were present.

The jubilee, past and present, by the local Y. P. B., gave an idea of the work the societies have done in the past year and the plans which are being made to help "vote California dry." The departments of flower work, purity, Christian citizenship, medical temperance and the many other fine departments which are in the state work, certainly showed that the young people are alive and that the Y. P. B. is doing good, earnest work.

Addresses on live topics were given by the members of the Y. and a very interesting debate, "Resolved, that the perils of a country are greater than its glories," was held.

The convention closed Friday with a playlet given by the Long Beach Y. P. B. and "The Burden of the Flag," in which young women from the different societies took part. At this session, as during the whole convention, some excellent music was furnished by the music superintendent.

The state officers elected for the following year were: President, A. L. Hollinger, Altadena; vice-president, Miss Alita Williams, Long Beach; corresponding secretary, Miss Grace Herrington, Long Beach; recording secretary, Miss Violet Gervais, Anaheim; and treasurer, Mr. Will Richards, Glendale.

Six young people of the society from Glendale were present and they thoroughly enjoyed the entire program. Those who visited the convention were Mrs. Lemon, superintendent; Miss Mable Robbins, Miss Vivian Engle, Miss Eusebia Farrand, Doty Lawrence Anderson and Will Richards.

Notice was also given of the annual picnic to be held at Anaheim Landing on September 6. All Y. P. B. members and their friends cordially invited.

TROPICO

E. Virden of Tropico and Roberts and Echols of Glendale have each donated prizes which will be awarded to the best costumed persons at the hard-times dance to be given at K. of P. hall Tuesday. Many persons are planning their costumes, ransacking old boxes, barrels, closets and store-rooms for unique and poverty-stricken costumes, to wear at the dance and with which to compete for the handsome prizes. There will be no admission to the dance and card party, but those dancing will be required to pay five cents per dance, while those desiring to play cards can procure scorecards from either Mrs. Charles A. Barker or Mrs. Hal H. Davenport at twenty-five cents each, as these two ladies will have charge of the card tables. The proceeds to be derived from this hard-time dance and card party will be applied to the municipal playgrounds of Tropico.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Busser, who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Phillips and family of San Fernando boulevard, left for Hermosa Beach the latter part of the week, where they will spend a month. Mrs. Phillips and children accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Busser. Mr. Phillips, who is in business in Los Angeles, will join his family of evenings and for the week-ends.

Mrs. C. S. Westlake has returned to her home on Oak street after spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. O. E. Clements of Eulalia street, while convalescing from an illness following a surgical operation.

Mrs. A. J. McConnell of Los Angeles, who but recently returned from a delightful sojourn at Avalon, was the over-Sunday guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Bahrenberg at their home, "Twin Pines," on West Park avenue. Mrs. McConnell leaves for San Francisco this evening, where she will visit the Panama-Pacific exposition while the guest of her son, Judge M. R. McConnell of that city.

Miss Lou Esther Fink, who has been visiting at the home of her uncle, Lee J. Bowers of West Cypress street, for several weeks, left for her home at Edmond, Okla., Sunday morning. Miss Fink, who though but in her teens, is a graduate of the state normal of Oklahoma, has taught school several years and is one of the most brilliant and popular teachers in that state. After a few days' visit with her parents at Edmond, she will leave for Durant, where she has accepted a most lucrative position in the schools of that city. While touring in California Miss Fink visited in San Francisco and San Diego, Catalina and all of the many places of interest in and around Los Angeles.

WHY YOU

should do your business with the Bank of Glendale

California laws regulating this bank are among the strongest in the United States. In these laws are defined just what loans a bank may make. Regular examinations are made by the state banking superintendent and the Los Angeles Clearinghouse examiner. The funds are protected by a good screw door safe in a vault fortified with electric burglar alarm, in addition to being insured against burglary or hold-up. All officers are bonded.

The Bank of Glendale makes no loans to any of its officers or directors. Disinterestedness in those having care of your money is thus assured.

Keep in mind that we do a COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS bank business, that we are provided with all that is to be desired in safety and service. We invite your business.

veras skull. For a time this skull attracted much attention, not only from people in California, but from scientific men the world over. It was reported to have been found in 1866 near the town of Angels, Calaveras county, at a depth of 130 feet in Tertiary gravels underlying Tertiary lava. The finding of a human skull embedded in such deposits was for a time believed to indicate that man had been in existence in North America longer than had been supposed. Strange to say, the skull is of a higher type than skulls which, although known to antedate historic times, are known also to be much younger than the Tertiary. Although Prof. J. D. Whitney, then state geologist, accepted the skull as a bit of genuine scientific evidence, it is generally believed by students of the antiquity of man that the Calaveras skull, while undoubtedly old, probably did not come from the auriferous gravels at all.

PRaise FOR THE CHERRY

Dr. A. J. Cook, state horticultural commissioner, says that the coming fruit in California is the cherry. "Cherries in California," he says, have little prejudice regarding soil or climate, bear early, are easily cared for and with little pains can find a good market. I have some varieties on my place that were planted last year and yielded fruit this season. There is no doubt a future for California cherries." At present there are comparatively few cherry trees in the state.

HAVOC OF SKODA SHELL

WARSAW, Aug. 8 (by mail).—"Small arms and bullets are playing no role in the present war. The rifle is the infantryman's toy. The infantryman does not fight. When the big guns have finished the infantryman merely scrambles into the trenches they have won and occupies them."

This is the statement of Surgeon-Major Lesghintseff, who has just returned from the scene of the big battle in Galicia.

"Seven-eighths of the wounds are from shells, half of these from big calibre shells, and the rest from field howitzers and field guns."

The shell that the Russians most fear is the Skoda 42-centimetre projectile, weighing 2800 pounds. They are known to the soldiers as "Pilseners." The normal projectile of the Skoda gun is four and a half miles high and in soft ground the shells penetrate twenty feet before exploding. The "Pilseners" are howitzer guns and the projectiles, except in diameter, do not represent the famous Krupp 42-centimetre shells, also used by the Germans.

Describing the effect of a "Pilsener" shell, the surgeon said:

"It kills everyone within 150 yards and kills others who are further off. The mere pressure of gas breaks in the partitions and roofs of bombproof shelters. Scores of men, who escape metal fragments, stones and showers of earth, are killed, lacerated or blinded by the pressure of gas. Men who are only a short distance away are torn asunder. Sometimes only the clothes are stripped off. Of men close by not a fragment remains, the clothes disappear and only small metal articles are found. If the shell is very near the explosion melts rifle barrels as if they were struck by lightning. Men who disappear in such explosions are often reported missing, as there is no proof of their death."

GROWING OF VEGETABLES

How to grow vegetables will be taught theoretically and practically with actual work in the vegetable garden as one of the short courses in dairying, horticulture, farm crops, poultry husbandry and animal husbandry to be offered at the university farm at Davis from October 4 to November 12 for practical farmers and their wives.

There are twenty-five acres of vegetable garden at the university farm and fifteen or more varieties of vegetables are being successfully grown there on a commercial scale.

The cabbage grown there during the past year was of excellent yield and of such superior quality that it was readily marketed at high prices. Plans are now being laid for a comparative test of fifty or more varieties of lettuce and these trials will be under observation during the short course.

Students taking the course in vegetable growing will not only hear lectures and discussions, but do field work, practicing and observing the principal methods of irrigation, of fertilization, of preparation of soils, and of packing vegetables for shipment to market.

DENTISTS IN CONGRESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Dentists from all parts of the world are attending the Panama-Pacific dental congress. With over 3000 delegates already registered, this meeting is the largest in the history of the profession.

Both the Central and South American republics are fully represented, Chili alone sending twenty-two delegates. Japan is represented by 20.

The National Dental association, numbering thousands of members, is represented on the program. Other dental organizations holding separate meetings are the California, Southern California, Utah and the International Dental federation.

One of the interesting features of the congress is an exhibit showing the latest methods of treating the mouth and teeth.

Alton B. Parker, attending a religious convention at San Francisco, pleaded from the pulpit for more submarines and aeroplanes. Bryan not being among those present, there was no note of dissent.
